Aims of your Organisation	The Institute of National Remembrance aims at research, education, and publishing. It organizes academic conferences, trainings, seminars, film screenings, exhibitions and competitions for various target groups. It gathers testimonies of witnesses of history, publishes scientific and popular history books, and creates modern educational aids for students and teachers. The main field of our interests is the history of Poland in a European context between 1939 and 1989. The Institute has been established to create and carry out a policy of remembrance of the victims of totalitarian regimes of the XX century.
Why are your motivated to become a EUROCLIO Member	Joining Euroclio will give us a wide range of contacts, let us network with education specialists around the world, take part in seminars and workshops giving us the opportunity to widen our education experience and learn new ideas.
