Why are membership fees important for EUROCLIO?

- ☉ It has proven to be very important that EUROCLIO can present itself as a membership organization representing a very important pan-European community of history educators. Being a representative organization really helps in getting funds; Several important donor-schemes have made this mandatory, like the European Support for Association working in Education and Training on a European Level , also known as the EU Operating Grant.
- ☉ The financial challenges EUROCLIO has to deal with require a more broad view on fundraising. So we will aim on a broader portfolio of donors, including the market of private donations, and also aim on closer ties with the members.
- ☉ Since the Association and the Foundation have combined their operational activities, the membership fee is now an integrated part of EUROCLIO's revenues.

What do Members get for their fee?

EUROCLIO encourages Associations and Organizations of History, Heritage and Citizenship Educators to become a member in order to:

- ☉ Network intensively with Associations in more than 45 other countries in Europe and abroad, representing a community of 25.000 Practitioners
- ☉ Explore the possibilities to collaborate in local, transnational, regional and international development projects, for instance to develop new educational materials.
- ☉ Join and influence the democratic organization that is EUROCLIO- the European Association of History Educators.

In return for payment of the membership fee, member associations are obtaining:

- ☉ Access to the large community of History, Heritage and Citizenship Educators
- ☉ Support from a professional and dedicated secretariat that can provide assistance, guidance, contacts, partnership proposals and more
- ☉ Support for participation in international training events
- ☉ Affiliation with the wider EUROCLIO Mission and Vision
