

Ordinary People in an Extraordinary Country (2008) - Factsheet

General information
Name project	Ordinary People in an Extraordinary Country
Publish date	2008
Association	EUROCLIO
Representative	Mire Mladenovski
Project structure and roles	Historians and history teachers from Bosnia and Herzegovina, Croatia, and Serbia created twenty multi-perspective and ready-to-use workshops to approach the history of the socialist Yugoslavia. Additionally in the four years before the publication 500 participants contributed through seminars, workshops, study trips, lectures, international conferences and training. This publication is part of the project: History in Action: Planning for the Future.

Government's role (initiative/ endorsement/ no role)	Funded by the Dutch Ministry of Foreign Affairs.
Target area (countries/ language area)	Bosnia and Herzegovina, Croatia, Serbia
Content information
Type of education material	Workshops
Target group	Students in secondary school
Topic(s)	Political life, standard of living, mass culture.
Theme(s)	Every-day life in Yugoslavia.
Geographical scope	Former Yugoslavia (Today part of Serbia, Croatia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Montenegro, Slovenia, Macedonia, Kosovo)
Period	1945-1990
Authors	Darco Bencic, Slavojka Beštic-Bronza, Bahrudin Besirevic, Denis Detling, Vesna Dimitrijevic, Ivan Dukic, Elma Hasimbegovic, Darko Karacic, Hrvoje Klasic, Kiti Jurica Korda, Snježana Koren, Zvezdana Marčić – Matošević, Milija Marjanovic, Goran Miloradovic, Marjia Naletilic, Hrvoje Petric, Zvezdana Petrovic, Midhat Spahic, Velibor Vasovic, Radina Vucetic
Editor(s)	?
Academic advisor
Publisher	Niko Company, Tukan Print
Output	Print: 2500 Language: English, Bosnian, Croatian, Serbian
Website	https://www.euroclio.eu/resource/ordinary-people-in-an-extraordinary-country-2/

Aim of the project: “The idea was to come up with the supplemental and innovative material for history teaching, which would represent a positive example (through its contents and methods), and which corresponds to the demands of history teaching at the beginning of the 21st century and perspective of strengthening regional cooperation. The main targets of the publication are to offer innovative knowledge and subject methodology on teaching the history of Yugoslavia between 1945 and 1990 in schools and to improve the quality of history education and teacher training in the region.”¹

¹ “Ordinary People in an Extraordinary Country,” EUROCLIO, accessed March 9, 2018, <https://euroclio.eu/publication/ordinary-people-extraordinary-country/>